
Your Home

Well, I think at the end of the day there's no place like home, and you want to feel safe and secure in your own environment, and especially for my children as well. I think we've done an awful lot of work to the house. The biggest expense we've had is to do the dorma extensions upstairs to provide us with extra room because, as the family has grown, the house has had to grow with it.

Because of a previous burglary, we've had to do a lot more careful planning, and I do think we've done that and we are covered for every eventuality. I do feel happy and safe in the knowledge that if there was anything to happen then we will be okay.

My husband has a policy which covers him for ill health, or if he was to have an accident at work, or if he was to lose his job, so we do feel that we're safe and financially secure in that respect, if anything was to happen. I don't have any worries with the financial provider for our home. It's very reputable. I don't see any future problems. We're happy with who we're with and the financial situation we're in at the moment. There's no worries.
