
Your Investing and Retiring

We have got a retirement plan between the two of us, and I mean, obviously, we've a couple of different investments with the bank and another one with a private company. The free time we will have will be in abundance. You know, there will be some more time to go on holidays. Sue likes the gardening more than I do, I must admit, but, again, it gives you more time to potter round the garden. Don't forget that bit there.

Don't you carry on standing there watching me!

I'm quite looking forward, actually, to getting out of the rat race, shall we say. You know, we can sort of lay back and enjoy when we eventually get to that age where we've don't our bit, you know, and hopefully we're going to reap the rewards because we've took the, you know, the time to put that extra few pounds away a week and invest it wisely.
